Terminal Distributor Licensing of Prescriber Practices

Updated 6-21-2017

What is a Terminal Distributor of Dangerous Drugs (TDDD) license?

A Terminal Distributor of Dangerous Drugs license allows a business entity to purchase and possess dangerous drugs at a specific address for distribution to patients.

- Distribution includes administration of drugs on-site to patients as well as handing the drugs to the patient to take away from the facility for later use (commonly known as personally furnishing).

- Dangerous drugs are defined in the Ohio Revised Code as any drug requiring a prescription, bears on the label a Federal Legend (Rx Only or Caution: Federal law prohibits dispensing without a prescription), or is intended for injection into the human body. This includes antibiotics, vaccines, sterile saline, local anesthetic injectable products, insulin, and medical oxygen as well as controlled substances. See ORC 4729.01(F). NOTE: This includes drug samples.

When does a prescriber need to obtain a license from the Board of Pharmacy?

ORC 4729.51(B) states that no registered Wholesale Distributor of Dangerous Drugs shall sell to anyone other than an individual health care professional authorized by law to prescribe drugs or dangerous drugs in the course of the individual's professional practice (also called a prescriber – note: not a prescriber’s practice/business), a Terminal Distributor of Dangerous Drugs (most prescribers’ practices/businesses), another Wholesale Distributor of Dangerous Drugs, or a manufacturer.

A prescriber or healthcare professional authorized by law to prescribe drugs or dangerous drugs is defined as an individual who is authorized by law to prescribe drugs or dangerous drugs in the course of the individual's professional practice. See ORC 4729.01(I)

When does a prescriber not need to obtain a license from the Board of Pharmacy?

Exemption #1: A health care professional authorized by law to prescribe drugs or dangerous drugs who practices as a sole proprietor under their professional license does not need a license as a terminal distributor of dangerous drugs (TDDD).

NOTE: There are certain situations where this exemption does not apply (see next page).
Exemption #2: Prescribers’ businesses that do not need to be licensed as a TDDD are a business practice that is a corporation (including an S-corporation), limited liability company, or professional association IF the business practice has a SOLE SHAREHOLDER who is a licensed health professional authorized to prescribe drugs (prescriber) and is authorized to provide the professional services being offered by the practice. See ORC 4729.541.

This means that if the business practice has a single prescriber (MD, DO, DVM, DPM, etc.) who is the sole shareholder, member, or owner of the practice, then this business practice is not required to be licensed as a Terminal Distributor of Dangerous Drugs with the Ohio Board of Pharmacy.

However, if the business practice is a group practice AND there are multiple owners, shareholders, or members then the business practice (corporation, professional association, LLC, or partnership) is required to be licensed as a Terminal Distributor of Dangerous Drugs with the Board of Pharmacy. There is an application available from the Board office (http://www.pharmacy.ohio.gov/Licensing/TDDD.aspx). A separate license is required for each separate location where dangerous drugs are received, stored, used, or distributed.

NOTE: There are certain situations where this exemption does not apply (see below).

Exemption #3: A corporation (including an S-corporation), limited liability company, partnership, limited partnership, or professional association if, to be a shareholder, member, or partner, an individual is required to be licensed, certified, or otherwise legally authorized under Title XLVII of the Revised Code to perform the professional service provided by the entity and each such individual is a licensed health professional authorized to prescribe drugs. See ORC 4729.541.

Currently, the ONLY GROUP affected by this exemption are dentists licensed by the Ohio Dental Board.

NOTE: There are certain situations where this exemption does not apply (see below).

The exemptions listed above DO NOT apply to any of the following:

Do I need to register with the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA)?

According to the DEA, a registration is required of all practitioners who possess, distribute, or prescribe controlled substances. One registration is required for every address where controlled substances are located.

- A prescriber who has multiple offices will need a separate registration for each office where he/she keeps a controlled substance on site.

- A prescriber who has multiple offices within the same state, may use one DEA registration for all the offices if none of them store a controlled substance or if only one office stores a controlled substance. The address registered with DEA must be the location where the controlled substances are located.

- A prescriber who has multiple offices in different states must have a DEA registration for each state, even if he/she does not possess any controlled substance in any of the offices.

DEA on-line forms are available on the Internet at www.deadiversion.usdoj.gov Look for On-Line Forms. Federal rules and regulations are also available on this site.
